'Goodyear' is a company famous for making tyres. The founder, Henry Goodyear, lived in London over a hundred years ago at the same time as famous preacher C.H.

Spurgeon. Mr Goodyear lived a lavish, millionaire lifestyle, with no time for God. He didn't read the Bible because he didn't believe it was true. He didn't go to church either – that was a waste of time. However, not all the Goodyears felt this way. Henry's niece was a Christian. She loved the Lord and was glad when her uncle agreed to go and hear Mr Spurgeon preach.

Just as the service was about to start, a man announced that Mr Spurgeon would be unable to preach because he was ill. Unable to get another speaker at such short notice, one of the men in the church took his place. Henry's niece was disappointed because she had wanted her uncle to hear Spurgeon. The speaker began to read Genesis 5 in a low, trembling voice. This was a strange choice because it is a list of names that reads like this: 'Adam lived for so many years and then died... his son Seth lived for so many years and then he died'... on and on it continued.

The young girl's heart sank. After persuading her uncle to come, it seemed as if he wasn't even going to hear about his need of the Saviour. Afterwards her uncle was quiet. The words, '...he lived and then he died... he lived and then he died...' from the reading were on his mind. All night long they continued '...he lived and then he died...' Surely there was more to life than this.

The following day the young girl decided to visit her uncle. She found him very upset. She was able to point out that there was more to life than just living and then dying. There was eternal life for all who trusted in the Lord Jesus, the One who died to save men from their sins. Henry Goodyear bowed his head, confessed his sins to God, and was wonderfully saved.
